SOME USEFUL INFORMATION ABOUT AUSTRIA GEOGRAPHY

AUSTRIA is the country right in the heart of Europe. Our neighbours in the north are Germany and the Czech Republic, Slovakia and Hungary in the east, Slovenia and Italy in the south and Switzerland on the west side. Austria occupies an area of 83,855 sqkm extending for 560 km from west to east and 280 km from north to south.

 Zell am See
Kaprun

The Alps are a dominating feature of the country. Two-thirds of Austria is mountainous, with three chains running west to east and forcing most east-west travel into clearly defined channels. The „High or Central Alps“ in which the land of Salzburg is embedded form the highest peaks in Austria. Many of the ridges in the Central Alps are topped by glaciers and most of the peaks are above 3000 metres. North-south travel across this natural Area is limited to a handful passes and road tunnels.

CLIMATE

Austria lies within the central European climatic zone, though the eastern part of the country has what is called a Continental Pannonian climate, characterised by a mean temperature in July above 19 °C and annual rainfall usually under 80 cm.

Austria's average rainfall 1371 cm per year with the west of the country (where Zell am See is) receiving significantly higher figures.

Visitors need to be prepared for a range of temperatures which should be in our area somewhere around 15 °C for the time of the World Tournament.

LANGUAGE

The national language is GERMAN, though for a small country, there is a surprising diversity in regional accents and dialects. This is due in part to the isolating influence of high mountain ranges, causing language to evolve differently in different communities.

Fortunately for you as a visitor, Austrians can switch to High German when necessary and most of them can speak some English, -too. Young people are usually quite fluent in English.

As might be expected, understanding of English is more widespread in cities and tourist areas.

Hotel receptionists and restaurant servants almost invariably speak English, French or Italian.

CREDIT CARDS AND ATM'S

Using a credit card can limit or even remove the need to carry traveller cheques.

Not only can you pay for many goods and services by card, but you can also use them to get cash advances at most banks.

Automated teller machines (ATMs) are extremely common and are accessible 14 hours a day. They are linked up internationally and have English (Italian, French) instructions. You can usually take up to Visa, Euro Card, MasterCard, American Express and Diners Club are equally acceptable.

TIME

Austrians use the 24-hour clock for anything written down, instead of dividing the day up into am and p.m.

Austrian time is GMT/UTC + 1 hour.

We've got summertime where the clock goes forward one hour on the last Sunday in March and back again on the last Sunday in September.

ELECTRICITY

The current used is 220 V/50 HZ AC, Sockets are the round two pin type which is standard through most of continental Europe.

US and Canadian appliance will need a transformer, if they don't have built in voltage adjustment.

THE TOURNAMENT SITE ZELL AM SEE

The tourist resort Zell am See in the heart of the Austrian Alps is, on account of its spectacular location and tourist possibilities the ideal site for a major sports event.

Our town, a well known two-season resort at 750 meter (2 300 feet) above sea-level, is located between Lake Zeller See and the alpine Schmittenhöhe adjoining the Hohe Tauern National Park.

The Europe Sport region Zell am See - Kaprun is not only a descriptive name but actually represents the 56 different sports which can actively be pursuit in the area.

GETTING TO ZELL AM SEE AND AWAY

Air travel is the quickest, easiest and most times cheapest means of travelling, if you are coming in from outside Europe it may be cheaper to fly to a European „gateway“ City (Zurich, Frankfurt) and travel on from there with international flights to „Salzburg AIRPORT“.

THE ARENA

All games will be played at the Zell am See Hockey Arena which has a capacity of 3.200 spectators, sufficient locker rooms, VIP facilities, office of the organizational committee, press and media facilities with reserved grand stand access, restaurants, buffet, snacks and refreshments will be available for players and fans. Game data and scores etc. will be processed electronically and will be displayed on electronic game board. Weights, sauna and indoor pool are available on premises. See further details!! The arena is centrally located in town and, on account of its close proximity to areas of interest to short-term visitors, avails itself as an ideal facility for such an event.
